MAGRATH'S MAJORITY NOW 160

There is now little doubt of C. A. Magrath's election, the Conservative candidate, with a majority of about 160 in the Medicine Hat constituency. This is a very big riding and quite a number of small polls are yet to be heard from but it is believed there will be little difference in the figures given. On account of the recent division in this province it was most difficult to estimate the result in this constituency, which for that reason must now make it the more satisfactory for the winning candidate. Mr. Magrath is personally a man who has the happy faculty of meeting his fellows in a genial manner and his strong personality combined with his independent views was without doubt largely responsible for his election.

Here are the returns for this constituency received up to the hour of going to press:

LIBERAL MAJORITY ABOUT 53

The latest returns at the hour of going to press for the Dominion elections held Monday gives the Liberals a majority of about 53 seats and it is not likely that this will be materially changed. So far the Conservatives have 82 seats and the Liberals 132, leaving about 8 doubtful.

The general election wrought many surprises, and perhaps nothing created more surprise than the majority by which the government was sustained, but as this paper remarked early in the election it is very difficult to make a change in government when the country is prosperous.

The election in Gleichen was quite a surprise as this town for years past has voted strong Liberal. However, it is now evident the town is pretty well divided as many votes were cast here by men working on the ditches, who are conceded to have voted Conservative. Happily the two parties spent little time in arguing with each other and up to the announcement of the results little or no bitterness was indulged in. The town was

TOWN AND DISTRICT

Jas. Evans was a visitor to town Monday from Moose Jaw.

Chas. Ewing came in from Dorothy Monday and will spend the winter in Idaho.

H. H. Honans arrived Tuesday with a party of landseers whom he is showing land near Cluny.

About 60 landseers got off at Strathmore Monday and are buying land north of that town at Dalroy.

The farmers continue to arrive in town daily in big bunches with loads of grain—a splendid sign of the times.

Mrs. Foster returned Sunday from a visit of two weeks to her sister at Medicine Hat.

Mrs. Laycock returned last week from a visit to Mrs. D. Clark at Crowfoot and went to Calgary Tuesday to visit relatives for a couple of weeks.

Near Kimberley in South Africa eleven thousand acres of blue land are being constantly plowed and harrowed in search of diamonds. Last year the crop produced was worth $32,000,000.

W. Bronghton's horse ran away from him last Sunday afternoon near the Palace Hotel, but did little damage other than kicking the shafts off the rig and giving him a nasty kick on the hand.

Grading has commenced on the new road up the hill on the south side of the new Bow river bridge. This will be pleasing news to the south farmers, who have great quantities of grain to market at Gleichen.

This local story to be published in The Call next week will be an eye opener to all bachelors and will show very plainly that, in some cases at least, there need be no terrors in matrimony.

A. Wertz, of Spokane, has opened up tenorial parlors at the bowling alley and being an expert in his line is already doing a fine business. He invites the patronage of the people of this town and district and can assure every satisfaction.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. R. Shore will be pleased to learn that their little child, who has been seriously ill for sometime, is rapidly improving under Dr. Farquharson's care since they brought the child in from Queenstown a week ago.

P. Burns and W. R. Hull, Alberta's leading cattle kings, arrived at Gleichen Sunday afternoon and consumed a meal whereby Mr. Burns purchased 900 head of cattle from Mr. Hull, which he shipped Monday from Stobart to Liverpool. The stock were all in excellent condition and make one of the largest shipments made from this district this season.

The Call will publish a very unique story next week which cannot fail to attract the attention of the reader. Several prominent Gleichen people are to figure conspicuously in a real live romance on which account the story will be of particular local interest. Don't miss it, for if you do you'll miss a good thing.

The Call now has the promise of quite a number of farmers to supply us with a statement of their crops, giving the actual figures of the number of bushels per acre as nearly as they can arrive at them and all other information that they think will be of benefit to new settlers coming here. A column or two will be devoted to these each week and we invite all our farmers to supply similar estimates for publication. It may be added that The Call is continually asked for just such facts and it is expected much good will come therefrom.

J. Frankie was here from Fernie Monday.

Many people are now saying 'Gleichen' fairly regular and some have asked The Call to spell the name of this town that way altogether in the future. The only objection to so doing is that it might mix up mail matter rather badly. A petition to the post office department at Ottawa would do the trick if the majority in this district desire it that way.

The C.P.R. are taking practically all of their samples of grain from Gleichen this year for their various agencies throughout the United States for exhibition purposes. Mr. Crandall arrived Tuesday with two men who are now busily engaged preparing a carload of samples for shipment during the early part of November. By this statement it may be taken for granted that the C.P.R. recognizes that Gleichen has the finest crops in Alberta as that company is not at all likely to take samples for such purposes from anywhere but where the best can be secured.

Louie Aasgard of Queenstown went up to Calgary last Friday night and to the surprise of a number of his friends returned Tuesday afternoon with a bride, in the meantime having married Miss Adeline Hermann, whose home is also at Queenstown. The happy couple up on their return to Gleichen were the recipients of many congratulations and not a few handsome presents. The ceremony was performed at 10 a.m. on Monday, the 26th inst., by the Rev. Mr. Pearson at the Calgary Methodist church. The Misses Daltons of Queenstown attended the bride and the wedding passed off very quietly. The Call joins the many friends throughout this district in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Aasgard a long, useful and happy life.

A Conservative meeting was held in the Foresters' hall last Friday evening, when Mr. Lowe, of Lethbridge, spoke for a couple of hours in the interests of C. A. Magrath. The hall was well filled with people and quite a number of ladies were present. Mr. Lowe, proved quite a fluent talker and was given a good hearing, save for a number of questions asked by members of the audience from time to time. He devoted a great portion of his remarks to the speeches of Mr. Simmons and Hon. Mr. Cushing which he read from The Call and publicly asked The Call to quote his remarks in full in this issue, which request we could hardly do as they would occupy more space than we have at our disposal, and the election being now over it could do little good, besides it is to be feared there would be a great shortage of the capital letter 'I' in this print shop.

PATE DE FOIE GRAS.

Fearful Cruelty That Makes This Dainty a Possibility.

To the ordinary man and woman no conception of the torture to which the poor, unfortunate goose is put could possibly be formed.

The geese when about nine months old are taken from the pastures and placed in an underground cellar, where broad, slanting stone slabs stand in rows, and are bound fast to the sides. They are literally crucified.

Feet, wings and bodies are spread out and bound by bands, so that only the neck is left free. As may be imagined, the animal struggles with all its might against this stretching till, after days of vain endeavor to free itself from the bands and its position, its powers of resistance are overcome, and a dull resignation, broken only by its low cries, takes possession of it. Two months must pass away before death brings relief.

The animals are meanwhile crammed with dumplings made of dough of buckwheat, chestnuts and stewed maize. Every two hours, six times a day, they receive from three to five dumpling pills, which in time become so sweet to the tortured creatures that they stretch their necks to be crum-med.

The most difficult task is to determine the right moment for death.
Those who die of their own accord are lost to the liver factory; therefore a kind of study is needed to see when the cup of agony is brimming full and the liver is ripe for taking. The bodies of such ripe ones are like pumpkins. Where ordinarily fingers are buried in flesh and fat nothing but skin and bone are found. The livers have absorbed all the strength and juices.

WHY WE SLEEP.

Darkness and Our Eyes the Answer,
Says a Scientist.

If it were always daylight we should never sleep. So says a scientist.
There is no particular reason why we or any other animals should rest on an average eight or nine hours a day.

The period of rest has been determined by the fact that eight hours is the average time when there is a lack of sufficient light to enable us to move about in comfort.

This most fundamental distinction between day and night is wholly relative to the sense of sight. It only affects those types of life which have developed eyes.

Plants, being dependent for their growth upon the action of rays of sunlight which fall upon their leaves, have a wide distinction between day and night functions. They eat and digest in the light and grow during the hours of darkness.

The lowest forms of animal life—
the sightless denizens of ocean depths
—do not rest at regular intervals. They prowl around incessantly, seeking prey by the sense of touch alone.
When they rest it is at irregular periods. In other words, they have no distinct periodicity of their own.

But as soon as eyes are developed,
and in proportion of this development,
animals begin to divide their time into two main portions—a waking and a sleeping time. While there is light they perform all motive functions.
When darkness comes they retire to nest or lair to rest.

Chinese Athletics.

The Chinese have always had athletic exercises of a sort in which they have rather prided themselves, though none ever seem to have taken such a hold on the nation as ours have on us during the last century or so. They have plenty of stories of strong men capable of wielding extraordinary weapons, of bending wondrous bows or of lifting heavy weights, etc.

Even within the last few years feats of archery were done before an officer
could get his commission in the army, and in almost any village there is a bamboo with a pierced stone at either end to test the strength of the rising generation in lifting. But there was nothing of regular athletic training, except for a few wrestlers perhaps, before foreigners came.—Shanghai Mercury.

A Strong Hint.

They had met for the first time since their schooldays and were telling each other of their professional careers.
"And how did you come to leave the stage?" asked one.

"I had a hint that I was not suited for it."

"I see. The little birds told you,
eh?"

"Well, no; not exactly. But they might have been birds had they been allowed to hatch."

A Lesson.

The Lady—Look here! You said that if I'd give you your dinner you'd mow the lawn for me. The Hobo—
I'd like to do it, ma'am, but I gotta teach yer a lesson. Never trust th'
word of a total stranger.

His Night Work.

Wife—What makes you stay at the office so late at night? Do you gain anything by it?

Hubby—No. But I have several times come—er—within an ace of gaining something.

The Explanation.

Him (in the surf)—The water is getting cold. I wonder why.

Her—That tall girl who just came in
is from Boston.

BOVEE POTATOES

Two Bar Ranch, Oct. 23rd 1908.
Editor Call:—In looking over last week's Call I noticed a small item in which Mr. Umbrite says he don't believe in sending east for stock and seed as last fall he bought half a bushel of Bovee potatoes from Stone & Wellington planted them very carefully and took extra care of them and thought he would dig up half a bushel and take them to the exhibition in Gleichen and to his surprise they were only a mixed lot of mongrels. Well, dear editor, I wish to inform you about one bushel of Bovee potatoes I bought from the same firm in last fall and paid $5. I planted them and did not look after them any more than the other potatoes. Last week we dug them up and had 50 bushels of the finest potatoes any one would wish to look at and if Mr. Umbrite would like to buy another half bushel let him call or write to R. A. Allen at the Two Bar Ranch, where the potatoes were grown and I am here for inspection.

Yours truly,
R. A. ALLEN.

A WALKING GALLOWS

The Horrible Deeds of Lieutenant Hepenstall.

HANGED MEN FROM HIS NECK

This Handsome but Brutal Giant of the Wicklow Militia Was the Most Cold Blooded and Eccentric Executioner That Has Ever Existed.

Among the examples and records of British tyranny during the terrible year 1798 there is none more extraordinary, according to a writer in an English magazine, than that of Lieutenant Edward Hepenstall, known by the nickname of "the walking gallows," for such he certainly was, literally and practically.

This notorious individual, who had been brought up as an apothecary in Dublin, obtained a commission in the Wicklow militia, in which he attained to the rank of lieutenant in 1795. He was a man of splendid physique, about six feet two inches in height and strong and broad in proportion. Referring to this handsome but brutal giant, Sir Jonah Barrington in his memoirs states:

"I knew him well and from his countenance should never have suspected him of cruelty, but so cold blooded and eccentric an executioner of the human race never yet existed."

At the outbreak of the sanguinary rebellion, when the common law was suspended and the stern martial variety flourished in its stead, Lieutenant Hepenstall hit upon the expedient of hanging on his own back persons whose physiognomies he considered characteristic of seditious tenets. At the present day the story seems almost incredible, but it is a notorious fact, revealed by the journalism of the period, that when rebels, either suspected or caught red handed, were brought before him Hepenstall would order the cord of a drum to be taken off and then, rigging up a running noose, would proceed to hang each in turn across his athletic shoulders until the victims had been slowly strangled to death, after which he would throw down his load and take up another.

The "walking gallows" was clearly both a new and simple plan and a mode of execution not nearly so tedious or painful as a Tyburn or Old Bailey hanging. It answered his majesty's service as well as two posts and a crowbar. When a rope was not at hand Hepenstall's own silk cravat, being softer than an ordinary halter, became a merciful substitute.

In pursuance of these benevolent intentions the lieutenant would frequently administer an anesthetic to his trembling victim—in other words, he would first knock him silly with a blow. His garters then did the duty as handcuffs, and the cravat would be slipped over the condemned man's neck.

Whenever he had an unusually powerful victim to do with, Hepenstall took a pride in showing his own strength. With a dexterous lunge of his body the lieutenant used to draw up the poor devil's head as high as his own and then, when both were cheek by jowl, begin to trot about with his burden like a jolting cart horse until the rebel had no further solicitude about seditious affairs. It was after one of these trotting executions, which had taken place in the barrack yard adjoining Stephen's green, that Hepenstall acquired the surname of "the walking gallows." He was invested with it by the gallery of Crow Street theater, Dublin.

At the trial of a rebel in that city the lieutenant, undergoing cross examination, admitted the aforementioned details of his method of hanging, and Lord Norbury, the presiding judge, warmly complimented him on his loyalty and assured him that he had been guilty of no act which was not natural to a zealous, loyal and efficient officer.

Lieutenant Hepenstall, however, did not long survive his hideous practice. He died in 1804. Owing to the odium in which he was universally held, the authorities arranged that his funeral should take place secretly, while a Dublin wit suggested that his tombstone would be suitably inscribed by the following epitaph:

Here lie the bones of Hepenstall, Judge, jury, gallows, rope and all.

A Slight Difference.

The globe trotter was telling about the wonders of India.

"The scenery in some portions of the country," he said, with enthusiasm, "is incomparable. Far, far away, the mountains pile up toward the sky, and stretching off to them are beautiful valleys, while close at hand you can get in sight of a man eating tiger!"—"I beg your pardon," interrupted an eager listener, "but did you say inside of a man eating tiger or in sight of one?"

All Bound.

A citizen of culture and poetic taste went to a public library and asked for Shelley's "Prometheus Unbound." He was rather taken aback when the librarian replied, with great hauteur: "We don't keep any unbound books in this library."

Missed It.

The prodigal son wrote the old man as follows: "I got religion the other day. Send me $10." But the old man replied: "Religion is free. You got the wrong kind."

Willow Grove Dairy For Sale

I have resolved to sell out in order to get my children nearer school and will offer my Dairy business as a going concern consisting of

12 Dairy Cows and Heifers, 1 Registered Bull,
1 Magnet Cream Separator nearly new, 600 lbs. per hour capacity,
Cream Bottles, Dairy Ware, Etc.

Also may be included, if desired, a number of early hatched Pulls, all white birds, pure bred W. P. Rock hens and pure bred white Leghorns, bred from the best layers I could get, some of them fit to win, also Incubator and Brooder.

The above will be sold to remove from the place, and is a living in itself. The butter, cream, eggs, etc., are all sold to regular customers, who are the most particular people.

I sell more butter and farm produce to regular customers than any one else around, and am always crowded to meet the demand. I did not compete as the fair for butter, because as no one would have been 2 lbs. short. Would like to sell to some one who can make first-class butter as my old customers who have stayed with me so long are entitled to some consideration. It can be arranged for the cows to stay a while, until the buyer can arrange accommodation. I have also several tons of mangels and an abundance of hay.

Have also for sale separate, 10 of this year's calves; 1 steer coming three; a pair or Clyde colts coming three, horse and filly, very gentle; 1 saddle horse, and a lot of other useful material.

My homestead will also be offered for sale, water front. 50 or 60 acres of the best land can be irrigated direct from stream at small expense, independent of the irrigation company.

I live about 12 miles from Gleichen in a straight line N. E. Address letters to
